Large subscriptions for the issue of new shares by the Consolidated Bank had already been received, and a satisfactory report of its position had been issued. The report states that the sum at credit of profit and loss, together with the reserved fund, will be amply sufficient to cover any probable loss on liquidation. SPAIN. THE MILITARY REVOLT.

Public order had not been disturbed in Madrid since the suppression of the military revolt on the 23d ult. A simultaneous outbreak occurred at Gerona. Some com panies of troops revolted under their subaltern officers and proceeded toward the frontier. The troops remaining faithful were marching to cut off their retreat.

Measures had been taken to insure public security in Catalonia and other places, where some further insurrectionary movements were apprehended among the gardsons. Marshal Concha had assumed the military command in Catalonia, and Gen. Serrano in Andalusia

EXPLANATIONS DEMANDED OF RUSSIA.

A Paris paper states that the Prussian Government has demanded explanations of the Cabinet of St. Petersburg relative to the concentration of Russian troops on the frontiers of Gallicia. The Russian toovenment replied that this concentration of troops was not made with any hostile intention, and that the Czar would not interfere in the Austro-Prussian conflict. Prince Gortschakov, however, informed M. Hismark that should certain events take place through the revolutionary element, a Russian army should enter Hungary. This account coincides with a report that Russia had promised to occupy the western coast of the Adriatic, to protect it from the Italian Volunteers. CRUEL TREATMENT OF A MEXICAN LIBERAL.

WASHINGTON, Monday, July 9, 1806.

Mr. Alonzo Mariscal, brother of the Secretary of the Mexican Legation at Washington, who was arrested in the City of Mexico, and taken, hand-cuffed and on foot, to Queretaro because he was related to a Liberal, had been bailed out of prison in the latter city for they could not find the slightest ground on which to court-martial him, but they still kept him confined in Queretaro, and were examining all the papers belonging to his brother, which they took from his house when the French police awested Mr. Alonzo Mariscal.

The young man was treated in an outrageous and barbarons manner, first in a dungeon during a week in the City of Mexico, and afterward on the road to Queretaro, in consequence of which he is severely suffering in health.

Siege and Surrender of Matamores.

From The New-Orleans Picsyuce. From The New Orleans Piespure.

The "Heroic City" of Matamoros is famous for its thooly sieges and defenses, and the last one has been the most protracted of all. The commanding General was Tomas Mejia, a fail-blooded Indian, like the chief of the opposing party, Juarez. He had originally some 2,500 troops under his command, most of them native Mexicains of the border. They belonged to organizations dating back to the days of Gen. Taylor, and proudly wore engagements with him emblasoned, on their hanners. Among these was the celebrated Cerro Gordo battalion, which went over to the other side during the late battle near Camargo, and abandoned their Austrian allies to their fate.

late bartie near Camargo, and abandoned their Austrian allies to their fate.

This Austrian regiment was feomposed of men from every part of Germany, the Rhine, the Tyrol, and even from Vienna. They were regularly mustered into the service of Maximilian, and wore the Imperial Mexican uniform. They had attached a small field battery, manned by Egyptians and free negroes from Martinique. They served awhile at Vera Cruz, and were thence sent to the State of Gajaca, whence they were transferred to Matamoros. They were very good-looking men, but inclined to desert and cross the Kio Grande to the German settlements. It was this body that, in company with the Cerro-Gordo battalion, was sent up the river to escort 250 wagons of merchandise bound from Matamoros into the interior, and were captured. The feeling ran very strong against them as "invading foreigners," and some of them were shot on the spot. The fate of the rest is a matter of conjecture. They will probably be treated as Mejia treated his prisoners, sent to the public works.

During the last two years there have been several close sieges of Matamoros. The Liberais would come down to the city in force and threaten serious attacks upon it. At these times Mejia's troops would sleep upon their arms in the open plaza, with Mexican blankets for "martial cloaks around them."

The Great Fire in the Oil Regions.

From The Titusville Herald, July 9.

At noon yesterday we dispatched our own reporter to the scene of the conflagration.

He states that about 9 o'clock on Saturday night, a dense electric cloud lowered over Eennehoff Run, and hundreds of electric flashes filled the valley. At last a flash struck one of the oil tanks belonging to the Runcie well, on lease 21. Immediately an immense sheet of flame shot heavenward and in a few moments the tank burst, scattering the Liquid fire in

When the fire first troke out, the Superintendent of the different companies assumbled at the available force they could master to stay the progress of the flames. Mr. G. W. Thorn, Assistant Superintendent of the Branchoff Run Petroleum Company, also Mr. H. W. Fancett, of the Philadelphia well, with their men, by the most superhuman exertions, saved a large amount of property. Mr. W. Spence, Superintendent of the Bennehoff Run Petroleum Company, speaks in the highest terms of the employés under his control.

Mr. Snow, the Superintendent of Harley's pipe, carried three of Roberts's roredoes through the dames to the tep of the opposite hill, after which he, together with his men, kept the fire at hay reveral hours. At one time the heat was combens that they were almost driven from their position, but they still kent plying the water and at last succeeded in saving the whole of the company's property. The captine was removed from its hed, but by this time has been replaced. Part of the engine-house was also taken down. The triggraph wire and instrument were removed to a house on the hil, where they were put in working order. The pape is uninjared, and Harley & Co. intend sending oil through to-day, as usual. The fire from the flowing wells, was extinguished by placing a funnel over their mouths, and leading the oil through a pipe away trom the fire.

The fire from the flowing wells, was extinguished by placing a famel over their mouths, and leading the oil through a pipe away from the fire.

The barning oil flowing down the run was as high as the water in ordinary freshets, and the flames were extinguished by the oil passing underneath bridges constructed last Spring for the same purpose. No person incurred any injury at the fire; but Mr. Robert Collins, an engineer, was rendered itsensible by a shock of electricity, and was carried away by three men. He remained three hours in that condition, but was better vesterday morning. A woman also received a slight shock, which rendered her insensible for half an hour.

The scene on the run yesterday was one of extreme desolution, the most remarkable feature being the hoops of the scores of tanks which had been cossumed.

Another fire occurred about the same time as the above on Rird well, Eghert farm, caused by the spark from an engine. The engine house was destroyed. No further damage.

FIRE ON HONERS RUN.

About 5 p. m. on Saturday, a fire occurred on lease No. 2, Pioneer Ron, owned by Frank O Harra and Williams, on the Sane and Leather Company's property.
